WIRES FROM CHICAGO
CRIPPLED BY STORM*BUT TWO TELEGRAPH LINES IN WORKING ORDER FOR SEV-ERAL HOURS TODAY.*REPORTS FROM SOUTH*Indicate Heavy Rains Have Aggravated Flood Conditions in Several States—Heavy Snow in Northern Sections.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Mar. 21.—Only two telegraph wires connected Chicago with the outside world for several hours today. The only practicable relief from this situation was by way of an underground telephone cable to Milwaukee.

Sleet, wet, snow and occasional dashes of rain driven by a forty mile gale from the west struck that city and environs before daylight and within four hours had prostrated telegraph lines in all directions. All communication lines were crippled.

One young woman was blown under the feet of a team of horses and severely hurt.

All Wires Down.

The first effects of the storm were felt south and east of Chicago. Wires round around the south end of Lake Michigan went down within an hour of the time the storm struck, when the territory west of the city was cut off and about two hours later the last of the above ground wires along the north shore succumbed to the combined forces of ice and wind.

The only lines which survived were two wires to St. Louis. Over these were carried a very small part of the mass intelligence which normally is received and sent out from Chicago.

Few Business Messages.

The only crumb of comfort to those charged with transmitting press and commercial telegrams was that the Good Friday holiday relieved them of the usual burden of brokerage and market reports.

Six hours after the storm broke the sun forced its way through the clouds and the disturbance ceased almost as suddenly as it had begun. The damage, however, had been done and early estimates of the loss to wires, and transportation placed the figures as high as one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Bad Storm in South.

Memphis, Tenn., Mar. 21.—Reports from North Mississippi, west Tennessee and west Arkansas which were swept by a severe wind and rain storm last night and early today, are delayed because of an almost complete prostration of telegraph and telephone wires entering this city.

No definite advices have been received here from Hoxie, Arkansas, where the wind is said to have blown down a large number of houses, and injured a score of persons. At Fulton, Kentucky, considerable damage was done to property. In Mississippi the storm was severe from Grenada to Water Valley. At Senatobia the wind was unusually high and houses are said to have been tossed about as if they were playthings. No loss of life occurred there. Locally only minor damage was done. A heavy down pour of rain with continuous flashes of lightning accompanied the blow.

Heavy Property Loss.

Louisville, Ky., Mar. 21.—First reports from points in central south which were swept by a terrific wind storm last night and early today tell of considerable property damage, but loss of life is not mentioned. Wires are down throughout Kentucky and much of Tennessee. A sixty mile wind blew at Nashville.

In Northern Wisconsin.

Green Bay, Mar. 21.—A snow storm which started early today has completely tied up street car service in the city. Railroads are reported to be operating nearly on time, however. About four inches of wet snow has fallen.

Storm at Appleton.
Appleton, Mar. 21.—The heaviest three hours' storm of the winter took place between four and seven this morning. For the first time this season street car service was temporarily tied up, but the interurban traffic was not greatly affected.

A Blizzard.

Milwaukee, Mar. 21.—A blizzard which started in early today is general throughout Wisconsin. The storm is a mixture of snow and sleet and is affecting traffic considerably. Street cars are badly congested in Milwaukee and interurban traffic threatens to be tied up as there seems no abatement in sight.

The train service on steam roads is said to be affected.*In Chicago.

Chicago, Mar. 21.—The first day of spring opened today with a snow and wind storm which extended over Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Northern Arkansas and western Tennessee. Telegraph and telephone wires were prostrated in many directions and railroad traffic was greatly delayed. In northern Arkansas a wind storm caused much damage in Hoxie, Arkansas, several buildings being unroofed.

Tornado in Alabama.

Mobile, Ala., Mar. 21.—The town of Lowndes, Peachtree, on the Alabama river about thirty miles from Pinehill, Wilcox county, was practically wiped out by a tornado, which struck the town late last night, according to reports from Pinehill. The mayor of Pinehill has been asked to send doctors and nurses to the scene.

Reports are to the effect that fourteen people have been killed and many injured. The tornado passed directly through the town and but few houses escaped destruction.

Five Reported Killed.

Memphis, Tenn., Mar. 21.—Five persons were killed and more than fifty injured by the storm last night at Poplar Bluff, Mo., according to members of the crew of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad passenger train which arrived here today. They also reported on dead and twenty-five injured at Hoxie, Ark., and the town practically destroyed.

Great damage was done at Poplar Bluff in the conflict between that point and Hoxie.

Washouts Reported.

Louisville, Ky., Mar. 21.—Daylight found communication cut off from almost all points south of the Ohio river. Washouts were reported from many points in Kentucky, southern Indiana and Tennessee. At Louisville the weather bureau wind gauge reported a velocity of seventy-eight miles an hour. The few points with which communication has been established reported that early rains had been severely damaged. The loss in the several states which suffered from the storm is variously estimated at from two to three million dollars.

In Louisiana.

Shreveport, La., Mar. 21.—One man was killed, several persons injured and much property damaged in the town of Saline, by last night's severe windstorm, according to a report received here today.

Columbus, O., Mar. 21.—At Tiffin, O., William Wick, 75 years old, was instantly killed and six or eight others are believed to be buried in the debris of the smelterstack of the county infirmary which was wrecked today by the high winds. Three others are known to be injured. Tumbling walls make rescue almost impossible.

Sandusky, O., Mar. 21.—Two boats are missing, one is on the rocks and another in distress in the sixty mile gale that is sweeping Sandusky today. It is feared six or more men have been drowned. Life savers have gone to the rescue of six others who are in extreme peril.

Michigan City, Ind., Mar. 21.—A fishing tug Elsie D., which was caught out in the storm on Lake Michigan this morning and supposedly lost, went ashore at Grand Beach, seven miles east of this city. The four men aboard were rescued.

WARDEN'S MURDERER
HANGED AT NOON*Albert Prince, a Negro, Murderer of Deputy Game Warden, Hanged at Noon.—Is Last Man to be Thus Executed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lincoln, Neb., March 21.—The death warrant was read this morning to Albert Prince, who was scheduled to hang at noon. His execution was to be the last legal hanging in Nebraska.

Prince's crime was the killing of Deputy Warden Davis, against whom he entertained a grudge. It was on Sunday morning, February 11, 1912, just at the conclusion of religious services in the penitentiary chapel as the men were marching to their cells that Prince, a light colored negro, stepped from the line as he heard the deputy, raised his hand as if to make a request, and then several times stabbed Davis in the abdomen.

The deputy died a few hours later. After being tried and receiving a death sentence, which was affirmed on appeal by the supreme court, Prince made a second appeal, which was denied.

LA CROSSE BREWERY
CLOSED BY STRIKE*One Hundred Employees of Gund Company Have Trouble With Assistant Superintendent.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

La Crosse, March 21.—One hundred employees of the Gund Brewing company walked out on a strike because of the refusal of the management to discharge Emil Putsch, assistant superintendent, because of a grievance they held against him. The employees allege that he does not give them a square deal and at a meeting of the bottlers' union it was decided to go on a strike unless he was discharged.

Putsch was formerly president of the bottlers' union, but dropped from the organization when he was made assistant superintendent.

The strike is in no way connected with the employees' contract, which does not expire until April 1st. An effort is being made by the company to adjust the trouble, and meanwhile the plant is closed.

Washington, March 21.—President Wilson received the following cablegram this morning from Olga, Queen of Greece:

"I beg of you to accept and transmit to the government and people of the United States the Greek nation's, my family's and my own sincere thanks for your heartfelt sympathy in our most crushing grief."

President Wilson had arranged to meet all the Washington correspondents tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the East Room of the White House to have, as the president puts it, a heart to heart talk.

Senator Bacon of Georgia, the new chairman of the foreign relations committee, today congratulated President Wilson upon his attitude in the Chinese loan situation. The senator said he regarded the president's action as in support of the fight he and his democratic colleagues had been making against the ratification of the Nicaragua and Honduras loan convention.

The senator, however, believed this government would not relax its efforts to promote trade in every country.

This was a regular cabinet day and before the meeting began Secretary Lane of the interior department decorated the president with the Indian head dress of Chief Hollow Horn Bear, who died here recently.

FOR TWO MEMBERS
OF ALLEN FAMILY*Floyd and Sidna Allen, Leaders of Virginia Outlaw Band, Have But One Week More to Live.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Richmond, Va., March 21.—Floyd Allen, the leader of the outlaw band in Carroll county, and his son, Claude Allen, who are in the death cell in the state penitentiary awaiting their doom only one more week to live, Governor Mann having refused to interfere in the case and all legal resources having previously been exhausted in behalf of the prisoners, they will go to the electric chair one week from today unless something entirely unexpected and unforeseen should occur. The execution of these two men, who had been the principal actors in the "shooting" at Hillsville on March 3, 1912, will be the closing chapter of one of the most sensational murder tragedies ever enacted in this country.

The tragedy at the Hillsville court house was the culmination of years of lawlessness on the part of the "fighting Allens," as the wealthy and numerous family of the Allens were called in that mountain district. Some time in February, 1912, two nephews of Floyd Allen were arrested for some minor offense by a deputy sheriff. While they were being taken to the jail, Floyd Allen and several other members of the Allen family attacked the deputy, knocked him senseless and rescued his prisoners. Floyd Allen was arrested and indicted and his trial began in the early part of March.

Floyd Allen, who seemed to be the leader of the clan, had openly boasted that he would never go to prison and the Allens had made frequent threats against the court and everybody connected with it. Floyd Allen was tried on May 13, but the jury did not bring in its verdict until the following day. The prisoner being a man of prominence, his trial attracted a great deal of attention and on the morning of March 14 the courtroom was crowded with spectators, among whom were half a dozen or more of the members of the Allen family.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty and the court sentenced Floyd Allen to one year imprisonment. When the presiding judge, Thornton H. Massey, turned the prisoner over to the sheriff, Floyd Allen, exclaiming that he would not go to prison, drew two revolvers and opened fire at the court. The other members of the Allen family, who were in the rear of the courtroom, followed his example and for a few minutes bullets flew thick and fast. Judge Massey, State Attorney E. M. Foster and Sheriff Lewis Webb were shot down and killed on the spot and a number of other persons who happened to be in the courtroom at the time were injured. Two of them, August Fowler, a juror, and Nancy Ayres, a girl of nineteen, who had been a witness in the case, died from their wounds after a few days.

The Allens, excepting Floyd Allen, who accidentally had been shot in the knee, and his son Claude, mounted their horses and fled into the mountain wilderness of the Blue Ridge range, where from behind rocks they defended themselves against the posse sent out to capture them. The sheriff offered a reward of $1000 which was later raised to $4000 for the arrest of the gang.

Floyd Allen was arrested on the following day and two days later a special grand jury returned indictments against Floyd Allen, Claude Swanson Allen and Victor Allen, sons of Floyd; Sidna Allen, a brother of Floyd; Priel Allen, Wesley Edwards and Sidney Edwards, nephews of Floyd; Bird Marion and John P. Moore. The latter was merely indicted for having assisted the Allens to escape.

Victor Allen and Bird Marion were arrested at Pulaski on March 17 and taken to Roanoke, Va. Sidney Edwards was captured near his home on March 22. Claude Swanson Allen, almost starved by two weeks of hiding in the mountains, gave himself up near Hillsville on March 28 and on the following day Priel Allen followed his example. Sidney Allen and his nephew Wesley Edwards managed to escape, but were captured at Des Moines, Ia., on September 14.

Floyd Allen and his son Claude were tried separately for the murder of States Attorney Foster and found guilty. They were sentenced to be executed on November 22 of last year, but obtained several respites, the date being finally fixed for March 28. Sidna Allen was given thirty-five years, Wesley Allen 18 years, Sidney Edwards also 18 years in the penitentiary. Victor Allen, Bird Marion and John P. Moore were acquitted.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER III SEVEN YEARS OLD TODAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, March 21.—Some one recently propounded the question as to what would be the first thing you would do if you were given a million dollars. Now here's one for the bright pupils at the head of the class. What would you do if you inherited several hundred millions of dollars? Some problem, eh? Yet this is the very problem that a little American boy who celebrated his seventh birthday today will in all probability have to solve when he grows older.

The little fellow is John D. Rockefeller III, eldest son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and grandson of the Standard Oil magnate, the bulk of whose millions he will eventually inherit. The Rockefeller fortune is estimated at upwards of $100,000,000. Should the seven-year-old lad of today inherit one-half of this amount and the same be compounded at interest for fifty years he will have about $2,500,000,000 with which to make himself comfortable in his old age.

RECALL FOR MEMBERS
STATE COMMISSIONS*PROF. COMMONS SAYS MEMBERS SHOULD BE MADE RESPONSIB-LE TO THE PEOPLE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., March 21.—Recall of members of important state commissions received the endorsement of Prof. John R. Commons, member of the state industrial commission, who spoke on the Vint bill before the assembly elections committee yesterday.

"Our commissions are becoming semi-lawmaking bodies and they should be made responsible to the people," said Prof. Commons. Moreover, for the sake of efficiency and permanency of purpose, the commissions should be given longer terms. This need cause no fear if they are under the recall."

Prof. Commons declared that where the people have confidence in their lawmakers and commissions, the initiative is not a destructive weapon. When the commissions were first started in Wisconsin he said they were created upon the assumption that a body of experts was being brought into being. Instead, the members of commissions have had their time taken in working out legislative and judicial questions, in holding hearings and in handling a vast amount of detail work. The real experts are the staff men employed by the commissions, he said.

Assemblyman Vint spoke for his bill as one which brings the commissioners more directly in touch with the people.

The assembly today passed, by a vote of 45 to 34, to decide from the stand in engrossing the Gorecki bill forbidding the sale or giving away of liquor in churches or parochial schools. Assemblyman Hanson made a motion for indefinite postponement.

The socialists denied Schnitzler's charge that the bill unduly interfered with church customs. Assemblyman Vint quoting Bishop Messmer's statement that the bill had a good purpose and had his endorsement.

The Fredericks joint resolution memorializing congress to negotiate an arbitration treaty with Great Britain was adopted.

Assemblyman Schnitzler resumed his fight for relief from alleged discrimination by public service companies in Green Bay and De Pere. His bill sought to prohibit the increase of rates specified in franchises or ordinances granted to public utilities.

Chairman Holmes of the transportation committee insisted that such a law would tie the hands of the commission in a manner as to drive capital from the state. McComb declared that "justice is more sacred than the public utility law." Everett said he would not favor any bill that tended to tie the hands of the railroad commission, which body, he said, had given relief against bad service conditions in Racine. Roessler said the bill would take the vitals out of the public utility law. The socialist attack on the railroad commission was made by Mr. Vint. The bill was finally killed.

Edwards Ordered Engrossed.

The Allison bill exempting half the earnings of laborers from garnishment or execution, was killed.

The following bills were ordered engrossed:

Grimsrud requiring administration of oaths at primaries and elections without charge.

Burke, providing penalty for offenses against public peace and quiet.

Zinn, providing that the trial judge may in rare cases award damages made by a jury.

No Quorum in Senate.

As there was no quorum present the senate put over the calendar for next week. Two bills were passed. Brown, requiring counties in which agriculture fairs are held to appropriate $400 to such fairs. Weigle, providing that the city of Milwaukee may contract with some humane society for the disposition of stray dogs.

Weigle's bill to provide for the building of a state administration building in Milwaukee went over to Wednesday's calendar.

The committee on finance reported for passage:

Bishop, providing that all soldiers of the Civil war who took part in the battle of Gettysburg, be enlisted to a ten days' celebration at Gettysburg next July at the state's expense, the appropriation not to exceed $10,000.

Bishop, appropriating $18,000 a year to be used in compiling reports of the adjutant general.

Assemblyman Hood of La Crosse, made a final grapple with Judge Rosa's joint guardianship bill to bring it down to earth, but failed. Hood read long quotations from the Bible to sustain his view that the man should be the head of the household. Judge Rosa quoted laws from New York, Iowa and Illinois showing that these states had laws similar to his bill.

GENTLE SPRING MADE FORMAL APPEARANCE

WITH GENUINE "NORTHER" SNOW—COLD WINDS AND ICE IN ABUNDANCE.

EXPECT COOL WEATHER

City Covered With Blanket of White—Streets Impassable—Trains Delayed.

Gentle spring has arrived. According to the weather bureau it reached Janesville just a minute or two in advance of the blizzard, a genuine "Northern" that swept over the country shortly after eleven last night. The oldest inhabitant, who just happened to be up at the official moment spring was ushered in, announces the wind was from the northeast, which means a cold, backward spring. Meanwhile it snowed. Then it snowed some more, and this morning side walks were drifted high with the white blanket, no snow-plows in evidence and the early pedestrians waded through drifts to their places of business.

River Rising.
Even the Rock river felt the effects of the unusual snow at this season of the year and came up like a boiling pot of water. The cold wave that accompanied the snow, which started as a slight late last evening, seriously hampered the street car traffic and interurban service. While forces of men were at work clearing the tracks, it was late this morning before cars were running on any lines and then some routes had to be abandoned. Telephone communication out of the city was seriously hampered and telegraph service slow and irregular. Farmers and others interested in agriculture place great value in the storm and say that it will insure good meadows and help the grain crops owing to the fact the ground was all thawed on top, and the snow will melt and sing into the ground instead of running off as it would when the ground was frozen. One old-timer called it a sugar snow and predicted an early run of sap.

Trains Delayed.
All trains from the northern part of the state were late on account of the heavy snowfall above Elroy and in the Dakotas. Train No. 14 on the Northwestern road, which runs between the Black Hills, Dakota, and Chicago, was over four hours late. The train crew stated that while in the northern part of the state the train was delayed for over an hour when the train encountered a drift of snow in a cut that was thirty feet in depth. Engineers report little difficulty in running around the southern part of Wisconsin because the snow is soft and does not drift. From reports the snowfall in the northern part of the section is far more severe than here. The Madison train on the St. Paul road, which leaves here at 10:40, was forty-five minutes late, but the other trains on this road were delayed only a few minutes. All other trains on the Northwestern line were practically on time, train No. 516 from Minneapolis followed No. 14 and was only a signal block behind it. Neither road was forced to bring out the snow plows.

Stops Bridge Work.
Work on the railroad bridge was stopped on account of the unfavorable weather and all but a few of the employees are laying off. The dryer worked yesterday and a great deal of progress was made in laying the sheeting for the coffer dam. When the sudden change came it was found necessary to discontinue work because of the cement freezing and the cold conditions the men are forced to work under. The bridge is badly coated with ice making working conditions dangerous.

TWO POLES SMASHED BY DERAILED ENGINE

St. Paul Railway Switching Locomotive Left Rails North Main Street This Morning.

Two poles, one carrying a large number of telephone wires and the other high voltage electric light and power current were snapped off this morning when the tender of a St. Paul Railway switch engine was derailed on North Main street, just outside the New Doty Manufacturing Company's office. The engine was backing up to the freight station at the time, and it is believed that the derailment was caused by the snow on the rails. The taller pole, carrying telephone wires, did not fall, but the shorter one, supporting the lighting wires, was broken into three pieces. Fortunately no wires were broken, and the cross tree was temporarily braced up. The replacing of the broken poles without any interruption of service, will be a difficult matter and will probably take some time. No trouble was experienced in pulling the derailed engine back on the track.

UNUSUAL HIGH WATER IS ANTICIPATED HERE

Rock River Threatens to Flood Basements of Buildings on Banks in Consequence of Storm.

Unusual high water in the Rock river is anticipated in consequence of the recent snow storm. At eleven o'clock this morning the water was more than twenty-nine inches over the government mark in the upper dam, and a rapid melting of the heavy snowfall that fell last evening throughout the watershed of the stream threatens to make it rise much higher. The water is already being expedited through water backing into the lower basements on North Main street. Water in places a foot deep covered the floor in the cellar of F. H. Green & Sons' feed store this morning, and the horse kept in a stable there had to be taken out, as did also a quantity of goods in storage. The bottom of the conveyor in the elevator near the Fourth avenue bridge is submerged so that the buckets pick up water. Jack-water is reducing the efficiency and power output of the turbines at the power houses of the Janesville Electric Company, by retarding their discharge and lowering the head of water. A huge whirlpool circulates between the dam and lower railway bridge, drawing into its vortex a good part of the debris being carried down the stream. As the water has risen the rapidly and strength of the current has increased, and it swirls about the piles of the Milwaukee street bridge with such force as to produce tiny whirlpools.

The height of the river at the present time is now less than six inches below the highest mark reached last year. This figure, thirty-three inches, was reached on April 8, following a period of heavy rainfall. An unmeted break in the Fulton dam accounted in part for the height of the river at that time.

NUDE PICTURE NOT INDECENT SAYS JURY
Art Dealer Who Hung Picture of Nude Girl in Window, Acquitted of Charge of Having Lewd Advertisements.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Chicago, March 21.—"September Morn" at the painting of a well known artist, depicting a young girl in the nude beside a fountain is not a lewd picture, according to the finding of a jury in the municipal court here today.

Fred D. Jackson, an art dealer was on trial for displaying in his shop window window an alleged indecent picture which was a copy of the famous original. Among the witnesses called were a priest, several artists, an art critic, probation officers, settlement workers and persons well known in society. Jackson was acquitted and the picture may be restored to its place in the shop window.

"It is the fact thought of the subject," asserted Mary M. Balcon, general secretary of the Young People's Civic League in testifying in the case, "which makes a picture lewd. The attitude of mind as it impresses people who see the picture."

ROUNDHOUSE ROOF IS CAVED IN ACCIDENT
Engine Crashes Into Stall Door at St. Paul Roundhouse Resulting in Considerable Damage.
The roof of the Saint Paul roundhouse was badly damaged when Engine No. 4036 struck the door and smashed the beam, causing the roof over the stall to cave in. The accident happened shortly after midnight. The engine was coming off the turntable to go to the roundhouse for the night when the wind blew the big door shut. The intake of the engine and the heavy door caused more of the roof to cave in, with the result that the engine was unable to stop and the roof crashed down on top of it. Fortunately no one was in the vicinity of the falling roof and the engine was protected by the cab. The accident happened at the northern end of the roundhouse. Damage to the roof was considerable, the portion affected by the fall extending one-half the width of the roundhouse. Beside damaging the room, the rafters protecting other parts of the building were cracked and fear is entertained that if the engine is removed more of the roof will fall. The engine carried the beam under it and when it came to a stop it was found that the beam was in the pit. The wrecking crew has been ordered out to repair the damage early this afternoon.

RAIL PRODUCTION IN 1912 SHOWS LARGE INCREASE
The amount of steel rails that were produced in the year of 1912 amounted to 3,227,915 tons, against 2,222,790 tons in 1911, an increase of 505,125 tons, over 22.7 per cent. Of the total production over three million tons were rolled from Bessemer, open hearth, and electric steel blooms (or billets and all rails were steel. This is the maximum production. The majority of the rails manufactured weighed eighty-five pounds to the yard. In addition to the rails rolled last year there was imported 3,780 tons of iron and steel rails and during the same year there was exported which is considerably larger than the year before.

ROUNDHOUSE BASEBALL TEAM TO GO IN TRAINING SOON
Activity marks the progress of the Chicago & Northwestern round house at the present time. Not only are the employees busy preparing the big moguls for the road but with the opening of the baseball season preparation is being made to build up a winning team and cop off the Commercial league pennant. Mr. F. Fraunfelder, when interviewed on the subject of his team's chances of finishing at the head of the per centage column, remained quiet and refused to disclose any secrets that might prove of value to the other contestants. All winter long the round house men have been planning on putting forth a record breaking team. While nothing official has been given out, it is rumored that their manager the "Muggsy" McGraw of Janesville, has been getting a line on several promising recruits. One of these is a former pitcher of Italy and the manager was attracted by the manner in which he could throw the ball and bat spikes. It is probable that he will be tried out as pitcher. The regulars of last year are in the best of trim and while there is little doubt but what they will be in spangles when the call of "Play ball" is heard, Mr. Fraunfelder may have several holdouts to contend with. Last year's short stop is reported to be holding out and a new catcher will have to be signed.
"Snowball" Klemp will accompany the budding baseball players on their trip and will have a liberal amount of skunk oil to relieve chafed horses and bruises that the players get from mastering the hook and fadeaway slide. Mr. Fraunfelder has several promising players under his watchful eye from the sandlots of Chicago and it is reported that they are better of foot than Thorpe, can outslug Cobb and can show Archer stunts in throwing to bases. The other managers of the Commercial league teams should worry over this and the lucky curve team and its second baseman who is captain will undoubtedly look around for material in the bush leagues. The slogan at the round house at present is "Watch our smoke this summer."

NORTHWESTERN RUSHING WORK ON NEW ROAD

LEARN BY MISTAKES.

It looks as though all was not going to be plain sailing for President Wilson and his cabinet, particularly Secretary of State Bryan. The resignation of Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, really the only man in Washington who appreciates the gravity of the eastern problem, because of his difference in point of view with President Wilson's attitude on the Chinese question and Secretary Bryan's St. Patrick's day address, have seriously complicated matters. The Wall Street Journal takes Mr. Bryan severely to task for his utterances on St. Patrick's day in view of England's possible attitude on the subject. The Journal says:

"If Secretary Bryan possesses the common sense which should be the saving quality of abilities above the ordinary, he will be able to learn much that will be useful to him in the future from his own mistakes. The English papers, quite properly, protest against his St. Patrick's day utterances about Irish home rule and the British House of Lords. Mr. Bryan, in fact, was currying favor with a biased audience by talking about matters which were none of his business.

"His remarks, in fact, come under the head of offensive and gratuitous. Home rule for Ireland is a good thing, like home rule for New York. The British House of Lords is an anachronism, in the opinion of modern economists. But many English people do not believe in home rule for Ireland, and do believe most thoroughly in the House of Lords. Admitting the truth of Mr. Bryan's expressed opinion makes the case no better, because in such matters the old principle of the common law applies—the greater the truth the greater the libel.

"William Jennings Bryan, private citizen and perpetual candidate, was entitled to express his opinions on any subject his audience was willing to endure. State Secretary Bryan happens to be an official and important part of the United States government, and what he says has an official character as in a measure representing the opinion of all the United States on foreign affairs. Any voluntary statement by Mr. Bryan, therefore, carries the weight of the Wilson administration, and should be weighed accordingly by Mr. Bryan, because it will be so weighed by the foreign subject of the criticism.

"What would our newspapers say if Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, laid down the law to us about home rule in the Philippines, or criticized that convenient cloak for doubtful deeds which is called 'senatorial courtesy'? It is hard to think of an educated English gentleman, trained in public affairs, being guilty of such an unpardonable breach of good manners and good taste. And yet the circumstances are exactly parallel. The only excuse to be offered is that Mr. Bryan knew no better.

"The Bryans are the price we pay for democratic government. We make a brilliant success with them occasionally. But it is necessary to realize that we can only train them through the expensive process of learning by mistakes."

SET AN EXAMPLE.

People have been prone in the past to laugh at the Janesville street car system, but this cold, stormy March morning they set an example to our city fathers, especially the street cleaning department, that is worth considering. Long before daylight Supt. Murphy had his snow plows out and his cars at work breaking a track so that by the time pedestrians were ready to come down town, they could, as many did, have a place to walk in the middle of the road, while the walks remained impassable. The laxity with which the sidewalks have been cleaned during the past winter, has been more than a topic of mild criticism and some of the remarks made by persons who have had to plow across streets, that have not seen a shovel all winter, along tramped down walks, where no pretense of cleaning, not even a path dug out, should have blasted the pedestrians' hopes for a seat behind the "pearly gates." It is not economy to neglect these things; it is gross carelessness. The street car company set an example of how it could be done and they should be commended for it.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE.

With the Wisconsin state senate passing the suffrage amendment law, to submit the question to a vote of the people again, women advocates of the plan boasting of their calls on President Wilson, the question is asked, "What significance does it all have?" According to an eastern exchange nothing can be drawn from the reception of a delegation of equal suffragists by President Wilson on Monday save that he desires to be regarded as being unprejudiced on the woman franchise question. His reply to the request that he take a position favorable to the suffrage movement in his first message to congress—a thing that both of his immediate predecessors had declined to do—was not merely tactful and diplomatic; it was most reasonable. He said that a possible failure to mention equal suffrage in his first message should not be construed as signifying that he was opposed to the granting of this privilege, because he might consider it businesslike to ask congress to deal with problems other than those of suffrage at the coming session.

So far as can be judged, President Wilson is entirely open-minded on the suffrage question. It would be no difficult matter to prove by some of his writings that he is strongly in favor of an extension of the franchise to women, but a president of the United States can hardly be bound to all the opinions he held or expressed in his capacity of private citizen. The best that can be done in this particular is to assume that Mr. Wilson will be no less democratic in his views in the White House than he was at Princeton.

It must be realized as clearly by the President, as it is by all close observers of current affairs, that the equal suffrage movement can no longer be properly or wisely numbered with what is merely ephemeral and that the suffrage question must sooner or later be met and settled. But the President cannot be justly criticized if he refrains from committing himself positively pending the time when the subject shall demand recognition by the executive as a matter requiring the attention of the legislative branch of the government. That time, unless all the indications are deceptive, is not far distant, and it would seem that the equal suffragists have cause for encouragement in the simple fact that one who may have much to do with the settlement of long controversy, and one who may be in a position to exercise an almost determining influence in their behalf, is now open-minded as to their arguments and not unkindly disposed toward their aspirations.

SHOULD GET BUSY.

It looks as though the present legislature would make a recommendation to remove the state fair from Milwaukee to a site in some other part of the state. Years ago the state fair was located in Janesville and proved a paying venture. Why not get busy and see if Janesville can not be considered again if any change is to be made? Madison has already organized and is hot after the location, and other cities in the state are likewise engaged. Why not Janesville?

The "wise old citizen" who was up a few minutes after eleven last night and noted the wind was from the northwest, predicts a cold, late spring. Nice news for the coal dealers, but the ice men will not be as well pleased nor will the ultimate consumer either.

Having oiled the tee and thrown the "beautiful snow" and thoughts of golfer is much puffed at the sight of the "beautiful snow" and thoughts of the shovel instead of the elusive golf ball as a means of exercise.

Perhaps this cold spring weather may have something to do with the high price of living after all. Who knows? It may not be the middleman after all.

According to dispatches the Powers are going to order the Balkan war to cease. It will be remembered they also ordered it never to begin.

Easter day promises to be as much like the proverbial spring morning as celebrating Christmas on the equator would be.

Alaska has granted women the right to vote. Now all it needs is a few women to make it interesting and effective.

England really needs an Alexander to sever the Gordian knot that the suffragettes have tied in the lion's tail.

For the first day of spring today is a stem-winder. It really reminds one of the first day of winter.

The fate of the Easter bonnet on a snowy morning is sad to contemplate. Gazette Want Ads sell anything.

THE MOMENT

Hypnotism.
He fell upon his bended knees
And said: "Oh Agnes, wed me please."
He told her that she was his queen:
The grandest girl he'd ever seen:
That no one had no eyes like her'n—
At least so far as he could learn.
He said he'd never seen so rare
And gorgeous a display of hair.
He said her finger was immense
And hoped she wouldn't take offense
Because he mentioned such a thing.
For it pestered often sing.
He said he'd traveled all around
And never had he heard a sound
So musical as was her voice.
She was his one and only choice.
He'd give her all he had to give;
Without her he could never live.
No friend was by, his speech to stay.
He wound up in the usual way.
She gave to him her maiden heart—
It was a cinch right from the start.

For, while she let him have his say,
He had no chance to get away.
She had him lashed right to the mast
And tied and shackled hard and fast.
He didn't know what he had said.
He simply knew that they were wed:
And when to breakfast she came
He found her waiting for him.

Years later in an old house gown,
Without a sign of curl or crown,
And ready for the daily spat,
He wonders how in thunder she
Could have inspired the ecstasy
Upon that great momentous night,
On which he made and won his fight.
And then it percolates his brain
As it has done time and again
That she just had him hypnotized
Until he raved and idolized.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.

Mr. Chet Binks, our gentlemanly and congenial paperhanger and decorator, has orders to paint the new house. He started early one morning and got Hi Spink's house half painted before he discovered his mistake. Hod and Hi are both muddered wet hens. Hod has sent Hi a bill for the paint, and Hi says Hod can go to tophet and if he ain't satisfied let him come and take his paint back. Chet is visitin' relatives down to the city.

Rev. Hanks of the Hard Shell church expects to start on his vacation in the near future and shingle a barn for Anson Frisby and also do some paperhanging for Mr. and Mrs. Jay Higgins. Last Thursday night folks thought it was spring sure for crickets was yellin' all evening. They found out later, however, it was only Bud Hicks settlin' on the front stoop of the flour mill whidin' his new dollar watch. Bud's new watch is guaranteed to run one year. But says by giner it ought to, because it takes about one year to wind it up.

Mr. Hod Peters bought a 2-cent stamp and a sheet of writin' paper and envelope last week. What's the lady's name, Hod? Miss Lullie Bibbin's rat bit. Elmer Spink on the nose quite bad while they was playin' drop the handkerchief at the candy pull at the paragonage Wednesday evening. Ezra Harkins went to sleep back of the stove and somebody put a lump of hot candy in his whiskers. But he ain't found it out yet. Special Sunday dinner at the Hotel Hickeyville next Sunday. Jelly roll on the table.

The Ladies' Literary society has started a crusade against the smoke nuisance and Grandma Bibbins has been warned to throw her pipe away.

Amos Butts, undertaker, also livery, feed and sales stables, is hauling wood in the hearse this week. Funerals being some scarce at this writing. Mrs. Hank Tunnus threatens to have an operation for appendicitis, and Mrs. Anson Frisby's throne as society leader totters.

Personal.

J. M. We think that the claims to the effect that they wear whiskers longer in Kansas than in any other state are absurd. We know of one man in Illinois who has worn his more than eighty years.

B. F. We don't know exactly what they have been fighting about in Mexico, but we think they have been fighting about long enough.

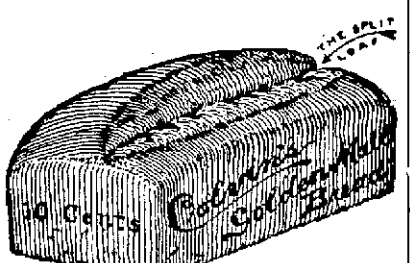

Myrtle. Our idea of domestic incompatibility would be to be married to one of those feminine mountain climbers or one of those female wrestlers in vaudeville.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

LIFE IS OPPORTUNITY.

It is finally dawning on most of us that we have come into a new age, that the world has changed its viewpoint both industrially and psychologically.

Invention accounts for much of the industrial transformation. As that concerns us in a social and political way more than it does as individuals it can be passed by in this discussion. The psychological change is the one that personally affects each one of us. In a word, this change has brought the realization in a practical, actual way that we make our own world.

Our whole literature has long been full of adages stating this truth, but we have accepted them without recognizing their tremendous import.

For example:
"We can make of ourselves what we will."

"As a man thinketh in his heart so is he."
"We are the arbiters of our own destiny."

Or, as Huxley so finely puts it:
"I am the master of my fate; I am the captain of my soul."

The new realization is that these things are literally true.

The whole of life from the cradle to the grave is opportunity.

Let us take specific instances:

Suppose you are a student.
It is your opportunity so to inform and train your mind in any desired direction that you can make fame and fortune, likewise—and this means the same thing—that you can be of service.

Suppose you are a farmer.

It is your opportunity by the study of scientific methods so to increase the yield of your acres that they will make you a shining success.

Suppose you are a merchant.

It is your opportunity by closely studying your trade, by buying the best goods at the lowest possible figure, by representing these goods honestly, by proper advertising and display of your wares, by right treatment of your customers, to build up a splendid business and be honored in your world.

Suppose you are a professional man.
It is your opportunity by learning more about your profession or some special branch of it than any one else in your community to become a recognized authority.

So is it in all callings. Life is one continuous opportunity.

We must know, and we must do.

Work is the key that unlocks the golden storehouse.

For by work we gain knowledge, and by work we apply the knowledge we have gained.

Work—that is the secret!

Had No Use for Names.

An Atchison reporter asked a woman if she could give him a news item. She thought and thought, and finally admitted regretfully that she didn't know a single, solitary thing. "I am too excited to think, anyway," the woman added, "because my brother broke his arm this morning, and I am on my way to his home to see him."—Kansas City Star.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

Book for Baby.

When baby arrives at a taste for books a durable one can be made of brown holland or linen. Buttonhole round the leaves with bright silk or thread, and paste in bright colored pictures cut from magazines. A row of stitching made with an unthreaded needle will mark an even border and serve as a marker for the insertion of the needle when doing the buttonholing.

Word Much Misused.

"Fix" is one of the words that we Americans habitually misuse, but it is not often that the mistake leads to such absurdity as it does in the label of a certain stain-remover now on the market. "It will fix the stain," says the notice. Since "fix" means to make permanent, the manufacturers of the stain-remover have not said quite what they intended to say.—Youth's Companion.

Registration Day Tuesday, March 25

See to it that your name appears upon the new registry list.

You people who have not cared for motion pictures on account of poor programs you have seen, listen to this announcement.

For a limited time beginning Monday, March 24, LYRIC THEATER offers nothing but the pictures that have "made a hit."

Each week the fourteen licensed reels that have scored the greatest success out of the forty-six produced weekly, will be shown, two every day.

Getting the selection is expensive, as these are the pictures in constant demand in the cities, so it will cost you a nickel more to see them.

But for the dime you also see the work of one of Wisconsin's cleverest operators, who makes picture projection an ART, and you hear the work of the highest-salaried pianist ever employed in our theaters.

If you enjoy what the competent critics pronounce the best in cinematography, invest your dime, and get in return ENTERTAINMENT OF QUALITY.

The policy of Majestic Theater, showing the best pictures it can for a nickel, is unchanged.

The admission at the Royal, when it is re-opened, will also be 5 cents.

Spring's Newest Novelties:

They are here—many of them—more than at any three Janesville stores—and many more are coming in daily. Too early for purchases on a day like today, but none too soon to see myriads of the world's newest things spread out over our vast floor space. The liberal early buying indicates that hundreds not only prefer to choose from early offerings, but know well where they must come for the choicest of the season's novelties. We are splendidly ready for the early buyer who prefers to come in and "shop around." Europe and America—yes, and parts of Asia—have contributed their best products, and our facilities for buying and distributing large quantities of worthy merchandise insure the patrons of this store the advantage of exclusiveness as well as low price.

Never Again the Old Way.

If you have ever had a tooth filled, you know what the drilling has meant to your nerves. The pain was simply unendurable. Multitudes allow their teeth to simply rot in their mouth, rather than go to the dentist again. To all such I announce Freedom. Absolute Freedom from Pain. My method will cost you a little more on each tooth filled, because I myself had to pay a large amount of money for the outfit. But once you have tried it, you will say "Never again will I have a tooth touched without Dr. Richard's painless method."

EDGERTON SECURES HONORS OF TOURNEY

Defeats West Allis in Finals Last Evening.—Stoughton Wins Third Place.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milton, Mar. 21.—In the final and last game last night between West Allis and Edgerton, the winners of the semi-finals Thursday afternoon, Edgerton easily outplayed their opponents and won by the decisive score of 35 to 9. The West Allis boys played fast and furious throughout the entire game and by good team work managed to keep the score from mounting any higher. However, the Edgerton team played the floor with such snap that West Allis couldn't keep the pace, and their accuracy in basket shooting was far superior. Stoughton also played Walworth for third place and won easily. The scores for the afternoon and evening are as follows:

Semi-Finals.
Edgerton, 30; Ft. Atkinson, 6.
West Allis, 40; Walworth, 19.

Finals.
Stoughton, 62; Walworth, 11.
Edgerton, 35; West Allis, 9.

After the games in the evening a banquet was tendered the visitors by the college students and faculty, at which time the silver cup and medals were awarded. The good-fellowship feeling which has prevailed throughout the entire tournament, was the keynote of the fest and at the close everyone expressed himself strongly as to the entire success of the meet. This is the first tournament which it has been possible for the college to hold and its success is assurance that this can be made an annual event.

DINNER STORIES

"Ah, dearest," sighed a young man, kneeling at the feet of his dearest one, "lost thou know what of all things is nearest my heart?"
"Really, I can't say," she sweetly replied, "but in this cold weather I should think it was a flannel shirt."
She was too practical and it broke the engagement.

In answer to the lady's advertisement for a landress, Ellen, a darky black as the age of spades, applied for the work. With her was a group of small darkies, some black, some brown, and some yellow. Her employer asked if all these children were Ellen's. The latter replied: "Yas'm, they's all mine." "But, Ellen," said the lady, "they are all different colors." "Yas'm; you see it's like dis. My first husband was black like me, my second was brown, and the one I got now he belongs to the fair sex."

A famous animal painter says that when he was a boy he once witnessed a fight between two dogs, one of which belonged to an Irishman who was a retired prizefighter. The Irishman's dog was badly beaten and the fact was a source of deep chagrin to the owner. He was very jealous of the dog's record, but as only he and the painter had seen the fight, he asked the latter in a decisively significant way, which of the dogs won. "Why," was the reply, "your dog won of course. He was underneath the other dog, but he was chewing the life out of the ear all the time." "That's right," said the Irishman, "you've saved your life."

A pretty story is told of a nobleman whom his barber left half-shaved, and in a great hurry. His lordship thought the man was mad, and sent to inquire after him. He returned in person and thus explained himself: "I was not mad, my lord, but the sight of that heap of guineas on your dressing-table, and the remembrance of my starving family so affected me, that if I had stayed another minute I should have cut your throat." "I am glad you didn't do that," said his lordship, gently, "and by all means take the guineas. I won them at the gambling-table, and should doubtless have lost them there."

ATTORNEYS EXPRESS CONFLICTING VIEWS

Thomas S. Nolan of This City and H. J. Killilea of Milwaukee Clash Before Judiciary Committee.

Somewhat of a conflict in the views of attorneys for transportation companies developed in the discussion of the bill No. 112-S before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate recently. The bill was a proposed amendment of section 4256 of the statutes relating to persons who may bring action for recovery of damages for death by wrongful act, and provided that the person or persons entitled thereto might, at his, her or their election, bring the action directly in his, her or their own names, instead of having it brought in the name of the personal representatives of such deceased person.

H. J. Killilea, representing the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, made a vehement attack on all legislation seeking to broaden the law. He directed his verbal battery principally against the amendment of the law to alien relatives of the person who might be killed. He stated that it was unsettling in its tendency, and nullified Court decisions that were numerous and well considered; that it resulted in the taking of money from citizens and taxpayers of the state, and giving it to foreigners from whom we might expect no benefit. He made the assertion that little of the money recovered in such cases would reach alien widows or relations, owing to the dishonesty of those who might act for them here. He cited several cases which came within his experience, where consuls and others had benefitted at the expense of alien widows and orphans.

Thos. S. Nolan, representing the Rockford & Interurban Railway Company and the Beloit and Janesville Traction Companies, told the committee that he did not understand the repeal or the amendment of the clause so vigorously attacked by Mr. Killilea was under consideration, and therefore no time should be spent in commenting upon it; that his personal opinion, however, is that the alien widow or relatives in such cases should not be discriminated against, and the fact that they might be defrauded by foreign consuls or others was no argument against the law; that every state in the union now conceded this right to alien relatives. Pennsylvania and Wisconsin being the last states to fall in line. He added that many widows and others, residents of this state, did not receive what they should, owing to the greed and dishonesty of those representing them. He gave as his reasons for opposing the bill under consideration, that it would be retrogressive. No law should be passed that favors multiplicity of actions or that would tend to embarrass the settlement of disputes, which was the vice in the bill before the Committee. Representative of the deceased, representative of the deceased, representative of the deceased, might settle or prosecute the cause of action, with the approval of the court, but if the bill under consideration became a law, as many actions as there were heirs might be instituted in as many different Courts. It would be almost impossible to secure the agreement of several heirs if the bill proposed became a law. He had never heard of any administrator or personal representative forcing a settlement to the detriment of those interested.

The Chairman of the Judiciary Committee took occasion to state that he considered the clause of the law attacked by Mr. Killilea meritorious and just and he would not favor its repeal. It is generally conceded that bill No. 112-S will be killed.

DISLUDGE ICE GORGE IN MANITOWOC RIVER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Manitowoc, Mar. 21.—After a week of fighting the ice gorge up river, it caused damage of thousands to the Manitowoc Melting Company and the Riverview Poultry farm by flooding the property of the two concerns was broken by dynamiting and aid of the Goodrich tug Arctic. The city had been notified that the Melting Company would hold the municipality responsible in case of damages, the company claiming that the city had contributed to the situation by permitting boats to be tied up in the channel and driving piles in the river. The gorge was disgorged after the water had risen in two hours and threatened to cause a repetition of the damage of last week.

ISSUE WARRANT FOR EDGERTON JUSTICE

J. A. Smith is Wanted by County Authorities on Charge of Withholding Fines.

Sheriff C. S. Whipple has a warrant for the arrest of J. A. Smith, justice of the peace at Edgerton, on the charge of withholding the fine money illegally in the case of one Richard Boazles. It is said that there are other instances in which Smith failed to make the returns as required by law. Sheriff Whipple has not been able to locate Smith as yet as the justice has left Edgerton and has left the home of a friend with whom he had been staying at Indian Ford. District Attorney Dunwiddie was ordered to make an investigation of Smith's case by the county board at their January session. Smith has returned some $100 to the county treasurer but has thus far failed to make a complete settlement.

IDENTIFY REMAINS FROM DESCRIPTION SENT BY RELATIVES

Miss Smith Receives Telegram This Afternoon That Dead Man at Oakland, California, is Her Brother.

Miss Anna K. Smith, 203 Terrace street, received a telegram this afternoon stating that the description of her brother which was sent to the authorities at Oakland, Cal., last night, following a message to her to the effect that a young man carrying a card on which was her address had been found, a supposed suicide, which was received late Thursday afternoon, tallied in every way with the body which is being held there pending identification. Miss Smith has wired that the remains be sent to Janesville at once.

Theodore J. Smith was born in this city Sept. 5, 1878. He spent his boyhood and early manhood in this city, which he has always claimed as his home. He was graduated from the local high school in 1898. Besides his father, J. Maurice Smith, he leaves four sisters: Margaret, Kate, Mamie and Anna, and one brother, Hyatt, all of this city.

FLOATER FOUND IN RIVER AT MONTEREY

Mrs. Paul Blum Makes Gruesome Discovery This Afternoon—Remains Unidentified.

Mrs. Paul Blum, who lives at 662 Eastern avenue, made the gruesome discovery late this afternoon, of a corpse of a man floating in the river near her home. She at once notified the police department and the corpse was removed to Kinsall's morgue. The remains were in a very bad condition and identification was impossible for the present. It was evident that the body had been in the river all winter. The strong wind had brought the remains to the south shore of the river near the point where the tracks of the Janesville and Southern cross the river and Eastern avenue.

FOUR BALLOT BOXES AT SPRING ELECTION

In Cases Where Licenses Question Will Be Voted on a Fifth Box Will Be Required.

There will be four ballot boxes at the coming spring election, April 1. One will be used for the judicial ballot, a second for the school election, a third for the school ballot for women, and a fourth for the local city, township or village ticket. In cases where the license question is to be voted on as in Beloit, a fifth ballot box will be required. The contract for printing the judicial ballot, the school ballot and the school ballot for women was awarded by the county clerk today to the Press-Free publishing company of Beloit. In the cities of Janesville and Beloit the school ballots on both the ballots for men and women will not contain the names of the candidates for the county superintendency as voters in these two cities do not vote for these officials.

The Electrical Luncheon

IF what I have just read is true," said the housekeeper. "I may be inviting you soon to an electrical luncheon."

"Goodness gracious!" exclaimed her caller. "What is it? It sounds shocking."

"I rather imagine it would be pleasant," replied the housekeeper. "And believe me, if it comes to pass, I'll be one of the first to adopt it. If I can serve up two volts on the half shell, instead of five courses on fifty dishes; if I can serve the volts, or ohms, or whatever is the proper name for this new food that is on the way."

"Tell me about it," said the caller, "I would like a short cut to cookery."

"This isn't cookery. It is better than that. You simply switch on a volt or two, and serve it up in a blue flame; and lo! the hunger of your family is appeased. Several years ago, you may remember, we were to have pills that would contain all necessary nourishment. We could pass the family a tablet for breakfast, and a raw more for luncheon and dinner, and that was all there was to it. But this new scheme goes the tabloid food one better. For in this, electricity supplies all necessary nourishment. You can take a current or two in place of soup; and after a few seconds, a few more currents for roast; and so on until you are properly sustained. Think how interesting it will be. You will not have to sit in trepidation for fear the roast is burned, or the salad dressing not as it should be. The high cost of living will simply drop out of sight. The process of absorbing a current will be much more aesthetic than chewing, or seeing some one eat soup. And think what lovely electrical effects you can get up for a luncheon or dinner."

The two women laughed. "It's altogether too good to be true," said her caller. "Our tabloids never materialized after we had our mouths all set for them; and I am afraid high frequency treatment will never replace roast turkey and cranberry sauce."

"I don't know," replied the other, hopefully. "Whoever would have thought wireless would have taken the place of the mudsplashed, horseback messenger of the Colonial days? There's no telling what may happen in this age."

"If invention keeps on," said the caller as she rose to go, "there will be little left for us housekeepers to do but, as the hymn says, 'Sit and sing ourselves away to everlasting bliss.'"

"If I ever get away from the cookstove and the dish pan, I think I could find quite a deal to do besides singing," said the housekeeper. "I have quite a pile of things stored up that I am just ready to fall upon and devour. There is no lack of things I want to do in this world, and I would welcome the electrical meal tucker that would give me time to do them."

Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk

From the Markets to the Home:

There is one thing in which most housekeepers have a common interest, and that is marketing or buying food for the family. There are some who do not have to count the pennies and there are others who count them very carefully and still others who pinch them until the "Indian howls" rather than let go of the wherewithal which is to buy their daily bread. One of the most interesting things I know is to watch and listen to women buying in meat and vegetable markets. Some come in good season with a list, knowing exactly what they want; select carefully, quickly but asking questions so as to gain all possible information in this, a very necessary branch of their business. This woman, we feel quite sure, has her work well planned and, as she leaves the store, will accomplish much in either work or pleasure during the day. Others come in hurriedly, expect attention at once, no matter how busy all the clerks may be, and never buy any more than they need and go out not feeling quite sure they have bought just what they wanted after all, and expect it delivered by the time they reach home. The woman with very little money to spend must stretch it as far as possible, so she surely has thought long and well, and written down the items, carefully selected the best possible for the price, and usually carries them home with her, for she cannot pay the added price of delivery.

Now, all this may be interesting to watch and observe but my mind has traveled many times into the various homes, wondering just what care the food has after it has been carefully purchased, or otherwise, whether much has been spent or little, what immediate care is given to it when the grocer delivers it or when you carry the packages yourselves.

Paper bags have their place as containers in bringing the food to your home, but one should not allow food to stand around on shelves in them. Did you ever go into a kitchen and see paper bags in the kitchen, on the shelves and in the pantry? Then you know just what I mean. It is insanitary, disorderly, and not a provident care of the food just purchased. Rice and sugar or granular foods left in sacks soon are wasted more or less by the bags breaking and leaking. Every home has empty fruit jars or tin coffee or tea cans, which can be squashed, and if cans have the labels scraped off they make fine receptacles for all dry groceries. These should be emptied in their respective places as soon as delivered and set back in their own spots on the shelves. Yes, I said "their own spots." I remember once being very ill, and when the doctor arrived the maid was out and no one to wait on him but my husband, who knew very little about where food and things were kept in the kitchen. The doctor said, "If I could have some mustard at once I could give relief." My mind was clear enough to say to my husband, "Go to the right-hand door, on the second shelf, the third box back from the right you will find the mustard." The doctor said, "It should fall dead if any such order existed in my family."

Change the furniture all you please, the more the better, if you have good taste, but those cans in the cupboard are the materials, and these, with necessary utensils, should be in their own places. First find the best place, and then keep them there. Besides it makes the kitchen attractive, neat and orderly-looking, and a wonderful time and step-saver and a great aid toward a sunny disposition.

Now, the green vegetables should have equally as good attention. Greens, such as lettuce, parsley, radishes, celery should be put at once into cold water and as soon as convenient washed perfectly clean and put into a cloth bag kept for the purpose of a tin pail covered, and put into the refrigerator or in a cool place, where they will be crisp and fresh and ready at a moment's notice.

If the bread is bought, the box should be fresh and clean ready to receive it and all pieces laid to one side to be dried and rolled for bread crumbs, puddings, etc. Never allow bread to mold in the box as it taints all in the box instantly.

And as you put the groceries away check up from your order and be sure everything is there and in good order when delivered. This is not only fair to you who have spent your money, but to you who make every effort to deliver your food from the market to your home in perfect condition.

IS THY cruse of comfort wasting? Rise and share it with another.

And through all the years of famine, I shall serve thee and thy brother.

A FEW BREADS.

Bread is the staff of life; it is necessary that we know how to keep that staff in good condition. The following breads are good to add variety to our tables.

Vienna Rolls.—Take a cup of warm water, two teaspoonsful of sugar, two of salt, a fourth of a cup of tepid water, in which a yeast cake is dissolved, one egg and two and a half cups of flour. Mix and set to rise; when well risen roll out in long rolls and form in crescent-shaped rolls. Set to rise; brush with melted butter, and when light bake in a hot oven.

Broche.—This is the French coffee cake. Mix together two cups of flour, four tablespoonsful of sugar, three eggs, a half cup of butter, a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a cup of water in which the yeast cake is softened, a fourth cup of milk and a cup of mixed fruit. The fruit may be raisins, currants and citron, cut in very thin pieces. When risen, roll in long roll, form in circle and slash with a sharp knife. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and bake.

Pocket book rolls for the children are made of the Parker house roll mixture, cutting them as for Parker house rolls. When they are folded over, put two or three currants in each, then fold over and, when baked, the little people will be delighted with the money they find in their rolls.

One of the important points to consider in all bread making is letting it raise light enough and then baking it at first at a high temperature, to kill the yeast plant and cease its raising.

Nellie Maxwell.

Abdul Hamid's New Prison.

The Beylerbey palace at Constantinople, to which the ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid has been removed from Salonika, is generally regarded as the most successful architectural achievement of modern times in Turkey, the Westminster Gazette states. It was built by Abdul Aziz in 1866, and is of white marble throughout and essentially oriental in every respect. During his reign Abdul Hamid never resided at the Beylerbey palace, perhaps because of its association with the tragic death of his uncle Aziz, but foreign sovereigns visiting Constantinople were always entertained there. The artistic loveliness of the palace delighted the Empress Eugenie on the occasion of her visit in 1869, though the rooms set apart for her use were furnished to exactly resemble her suite of apartments in the Tuileries.

Animals Hate Solitude.

In all the animal world there is no voluntary recluse or hermit. No animal, whether wild or domestic, ever likes to be alone for very long at a time. Even the birds, of all kinds and species, hate solitude. Parrots, particularly, and all gregarious birds of the tropics begin to mope and pine away if kept in solitary captivity.—St. Nicholas.

FRECKLES

February and March Worst Months for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody gets freckles in February and March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of ointment double strength, from the Badger Drug Co., and apply a little of it at night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. You'll money back if ointment fails.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A QUALITY WOMEN LACK.

IT IS SUPPOSED to be an understood fact that the ability to keep a secret is a rare thing in a woman.

Myself, I have my doubts about that. I rather think that delusion arose because a good many women keep their secrets so well that the other sex doesn't even guess they exist.

However, that's beside the point. What I started to say was this. That I think I know one ability which is rarer in a woman even than secretiveness is supposed to be. And that is the ability to make up her mind what she can afford to spend for an article, and stick to it.

A friend of mine went shopping for a suit the other day. Before she went she told me she would like to get it for $25; she might have to pay $27 or $28, but she simply couldn't afford to go over $30.

She came back from her trip to town, enthusiastic over her purchase. It was a wonderful bargain, she said, marked from $50 to $35. "Wasn't that more than you expected to pay?" I asked. She looked almost hurt at this suggestion. "Only $35," she said, "and what is that in a suit I shall wear two years?"

This is the sort of thing this woman is continually doing, and yet she is always wondering how she manages to spend her allowance so quickly.

Even as you and I!

A great many women are even worse than that. They buy by arithmetical progression as it were. For instance, a woman of this type goes to town to buy a hat. She intends to pay no more than $10. At the first shop she is shown a becoming model at $12. That is only $2 more than she intended to pay and so she places it among the possibilities to be held in mind while she looks a little further.

At the next place she admires a $15 hat and she says to herself, "Well that's only $3 more than the other, and $3 isn't much when you're spending $15." If she finally stops at $18 or $20 her husband may consider himself lucky.

Christmas presents are my bete noir in this matter. Last year I was fully persuaded that I had lost $10 when I came home from my last afternoon of Christmas shopping. Fortunately, before advertising my loss, I sat down and figured for a few moments. I found that $10 in the "just a little more" over my estimate for each gift, that I had spent.

A neighbor of mine, who for many years was in a position to cultivate a taste for nice things, now has to live within a very limited income, and this is the ingenious way in which she helps herself to do this. "I always tell the clerk just what I can afford to pay," says she, "and I ask her not to show me anything more expensive, because I know that will spoil the cheaper things for me."

Don't you admire the strength of mind that indicates? And don't you feel inspired to try to emulate it?

I do, too.

HEART and HOME
PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH
THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am engaged to a young man and I love him, but he is awfully jealous of me. He doesn't want me to speak to any of my young friends. Would I be happy if I should marry him? (2)—How long should a young lady go with a young man before they marry?

TRIXIE.

(1)—A jealous husband is never a comfort, but he might get over the worst of his jealousy after marriage. Meantime I certainly would not give up any good friends because of him. He would disrespect you for doing so. (2)—If they are engaged they should marry as soon as they can get ready.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a bachelor of 38. How can I meet some good honest woman willing to marry a good honest workingman, strictly sober but not dead? (2)—Would a lady of 28 or 30 be too young for me? I feel as young as a man of 35. (3)—Would a small or short lady be all right for a man 6 feet tall? (4)—Would it be best to marry a widow or maiden lady? I have been nauseated with the marriage children, but don't care for many, and would make a widow with a small family.

LONELY RACHEL.

(1)—The best place to meet good women is in church. Get interested in church matters, mix up with the women's social affairs and if you're the right sort you'll soon find a good woman to marry you, even if you are deaf. There are instruments made now with which one can hear very distinctly. Why not get one? You'll need it if you go courting.

(2)—You would be more comfortable with a woman between 40 and 50. (3)—You can't always get the right woman and the right size. Don't mind the size if the woman suits you every other way. (4)—Being a bachelor, you're probably "set" in your ways. A maiden old enough to marry you, would also be "set." Better try a widow, even if she has a ready-made family.

Important Thing to Know.

If a man is dependent upon his life-work by means of his thinking it is just as important that he should choose that time when he is best qualified to think, as it is important that he should look before he crosses a street.

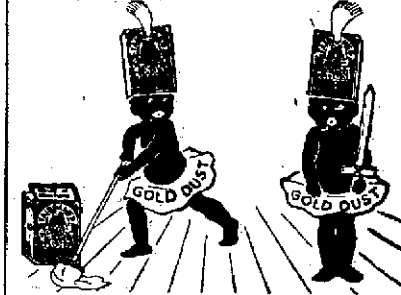

The 'Gold Dust Twins'
Philosophy

THE Village Sewing Circle met to gossip, in their little set, but one opinion seemed to hold despite the tendency to "scold." When vexing problems, such as say, "What shall we do on Cleaning Day?" confront the Housewife, she may feel that Gold Dust tackles them with zeal.

The Envid
Housewife

Staid matrons told of what a bore it was to scrub each dirty floor; young housewives thought that dishes claimed more worry than some others named. All uniformly took a "bit" from household work and argued it, while all in turn were loud in praise of what a part their Gold Dust plays.

The Mop is Mightier than the Board.

Those tasks which, anyway, are mean, decrease with Gold Dust on the scene.

Those "Cost-of-Living" puzzles put the chairman of the club on foot. Said she: "The Cost-of-Cleaning," too, should mean a mighty lot to you. If all of us combine, to buy those goods that have a "REASON WHY," ere long our husbands needn't fuss. They'll leave financing games to us."

The pennies count, as you must know, and cleaning makes the pennies go. If Gold Dust cuts the toil in two and makes economy come true, why not adopt the "Cleaner way" and join the "Gold Dust Club" today?

The Gold Dust Twins

will hair or will turn to sugar when sample is stirred. Set to cool, then stir it. When it thickens put on buttered plate, cut in squares.

Maple Cream—Use one-third to one-half as much sugar as maple syrup. Add a little water, boil till a sample will turn to sugar. Cool in dish boiled in. Do not disturb till cool, then stir till it hardens.

Maple Mousse—Yolks of four eggs, three cups maple syrup cooked together. Strain, then add one pint of cream, one pint of milk, whites of three eggs. Whip the cream and stir in the mixture when cold, freeze.

Easter Dessert.

A nest of ice cream is shaped in a soup ladle and the center scooped out with a teaspoon. Three candy-covered Jordan almonds are placed within, and the nest is served on a bed, of straw, represented by criss-crossed slivers of orange peel. Mrs. E. O. Jones.

The Useful Soapstone.

I use a hot soapstone to rest my sadrons on when ironing and it keeps the iron hot just again as long. Two irons are all I need, for a large ironing, and it saves the gas. This soapstone can be bought for a trifle at the hardware store; has a nice wire handle.

For those sleeping in average cold room, it is excellent to warm up the bed. When I have a bad cold and keep my feet on it in bed, my cold is gone the next morning.

When the bread dough is too cold to rise, just put the hot soapstone under the pan. It can be used to bake pancakes on, and can be used for anything the hot water bottle is used for: keeps the heat three to four hours. Mrs. Schriefer.

For Cold in Lungs.

Mix three parts melted lard, two parts camphor gum, one part turpentine. To be used externally.

Coal oil can be used instead of lard, makes it stronger, I think.

Mix well and bottle and it is ready for immediate use. I usually make enough at one time to last several years.

If cold seems very tight, rub on chest and cover with a warm flannel. Mrs. Earl Bates.

Tonic Laughter.

There is no spice like laughter at one's meals, the most salutary of all the bodily movements. It involves both body and soul. A good, hearty laugh stimulates the circulation, promotes digestion, and enlivens every vital organ. It is, in short, a sort of shower bath of the spirit, invigorating the whole man, and it is the cheapest luxury at our command. Moreover, cheerfulness is largely a matter of habit, and there is nothing that yields larger returns for the effort involved.

REVIVES OLD STORY OF BELT LINE ROAD

Beloit Learns That Plans Are Under Way to Resume Construction This Year.

Several years ago there was considerable excitement in railway circles when the L. I. and M. better known as the Outer Belt Line, running from Gary, Indiana, around Chicago, through Rockford, Beloit, possibly to South Janesville and thence into Milwaukee was discussed. The line was actually constructed to Rockford, a preliminary survey made to Beloit and towards Milwaukee, via Janesville, when lack of funds and other complications caused the plan to be abandoned. It was one of the pet plans of the late John R. Walsh and went down with his financial crash. Beloit now hears rumors that the project is to be revived and the visit of an agent for the proposed route in Beloit, looking over the old right of way and survey has created quite a flurry in the Line City.

Not New Plan.

As far back as Ninety Seven this road was projected and Milwaukee capital interested. In fact the plans and proposed routing was taken up with New York capitalists and the project had every prospect of being successfully carried through. Then came the Spanish war and capital was afraid of such investment. Later it was again brought up in Milwaukee but trouble was found in securing an entrance to the Cream City and the project was taken to Chicago and the construction of the roadway from Gary, Indiana, around Chicago actually began. However the Walsh crash hindered its progress and it stopped at Rockford. The preliminary survey north and east from Beloit, brought the line within a few miles of the center of Janesville and doubtless if the line is to be built Janesville will be included on the route. The Beloit Daily News says of the project as follows:

A representative of the Belt line was in Beloit last week looking over the old route that was partially surveyed several years ago and he declared the time was now ripe for the company to push the line on through to Milwaukee.

Time Is Now Ripe.

"It will be remembered that the plans of the company at the time that the line was built into Rockford were to ultimately build the line through to the Wisconsin metropolis by way of Beloit, Janesville and Madison.

"At that time the plans were not ready for development or completion at once. The line was stopped at Rockford. Now, the time is ripe for the continuation of the road. The engineer was in Beloit last week and would not say where the line would touch the city but it will be remembered that it was currently reported when the line reached Rockford that it would enter Beloit on the east side of the river, over the 'sand prairies' southwest of the city.

Advantages Are Many.

"The advantages of such a line to Beloit will become apparent at once. It will give the local manufacturers access to every large trunk line in the middle west connected at Gary, Ind. with the great trunk line of the west. The road already crosses the Chicago and Alton, the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific, and the Illinois Central."

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

TAXES.
(By Howard L. Rann.)

TAXES are a semi-annual scourge which falls upon the average citizen just when his life insurance premium is due. They are raised for the benefit of the patient office holder, who otherwise would be obliged to work for a living.

Taxes are levied on all the property a man has that can be seen without using an X-ray machine. This property is assessed by a tax collector.

Individuals who can see everything on the place that is taxable, including the cow, but who is stricken with total blindness when it comes to remove the lid from money which is a large number of people who do not own anything but invisible securities and nineteen automobiles which are plastered with exemptions.

The income tax is going to be highly popular with people who earn $1,200 a year and spend $1,100 of it on rent.

The taxpayer is a person who contributes heavily to the support of the high school and then has to buy a new set of revolving school books every semester. He also pays liberally for the street in front of the mayor's house and is rewarded by a set of crossings on his own street that couldn't be sealed by an Alpine goat.

This is one reason why the taxpayer never looks happy.

She leaves within a few days for her home in New York city. She will take with her a number of paintings, the product of her brush, which were sent here from time to time at the request of her parents, after they had been shown at various exhibitions in New York, Chicago, Paris, London, and other art centers. Through the kindness of Mrs. Stetson a representative of the Gazette was permitted to view the greater part of this collection, and to learn many interesting details concerning the production and exhibition of the various pictures that compose it. A few other Janesville people had the pleasure of viewing the collection and all expressed regret that circumstances made a public display of them at this time impossible.

Skill in very diverse fields of art—portraiture, animal painting, marine views, and still life—is manifested in the work of Mrs. Stetson. It would be hard for the novice to say in which she excels. Earlier in her career Mrs. Stetson was interested principally in animals, and although many of her pictures showed human figures, it was easy to see, according to one of her authoritative critics, that the deepest interest had gone into the work on some tiger or lion that made part of the composition.

This comment recalls attention to "The Lion's Bride," one of the five hung at the World's fair, and perhaps her most widely known picture. This canvas, five and a half by seven feet in size, was long ago purchased by a Parisian and taken home. Mrs. Stetson is even more fond of "The Duke of Clarence Tigers," a life-size picture now the property of Leo Mandel, and hung in the fur department of the Maudel store. The picture was painted from life, the subjects, which were the property of the Duke of Clarence, being confined in the London zoo. One tiger is shown asleep and the other awake.

Hanging in the old Burdick home at 22 North Franklin street, just opposite the post office, is a large pastel painting, five by two and a half feet in size, "Native Fruits and Flowers of Wisconsin." This is one of the number shown at the World's fair and is without doubt one of the best pictures painted by the artist. In grouping of subjects, blending of colors, choice of pigments, and accuracy of portrayal it leaves little to be desired. Three different times have offers of $500 for this picture been refused.

Mrs. Stetson takes especial pleasure in showing to her Janesville friends the portraits of her father and mother. Those who knew them declare the pictures to be exact likenesses. Apart from all sentimental interest they are excellent examples of the best in portraiture, for to their production the artist brought the experience of years, some of it gained in painting the pictures of famous public men. Before her easel have posed President McKinley, several governors, and the poet, Ben King. Mrs. Stetson's portrait of McKinley, considered the best likeness of the martyred president in Chicago, hangs in the rooms of the Hamilton club at Chicago, and there are those who claim that no better exists. The picture of Ben King hangs in the Chicago Press club.

In idealistic and symbolical paintings the artist has shown her best work, according to many connoisseurs. Foremost, perhaps, is "The Lion's Bride," but "Blossoms," which has hung in the Burdick home for some time, also attracted great attention when it was exhibited in Chicago. "Cupid's Kiss," shown in the same city; "Mischief," exhibited in London; and "Cupids Blowing Soap Bubbles," painted and shown at Paris, have many admirers. Especially popular is "Innocence," a portrait of a young girl, which seems to have conveyed to the canvas all the beauty and winsome sweetness of the subject who posed for it in a London studio.

Two portraits somewhat different in the manner of their production from those heretofore mentioned, are those of Napoleon Bonaparte and his little son, known as the "King of Rome." Both were painted from miniatures in the Louvre at Paris and are examples of finished workmanship. The picture of Napoleon is one of the less familiar, but shows his characteristic gravity and firmness of countenance. A "Madonna," posed and painted in Paris, has won high praise from many critics.

Marine views seemed to have been favored over landscapes in the work of Mrs. Stetson, and judging by the results she has attained in this field, her partiality to it is justified. Her seas are magic, or show long lines of breakers on a shelving shore, or breakers are decked with summer clouds. The coloring is full of warmth, and approximates with wonderful fidelity the hues of nature. Among the pictures of this classification in the collection just about to be removed from Janesville are a view off the coast of Maine, painted and shown at New York and afterward at Paris, another of the sunnier coast of California, showing two ships, a huge rock and breakers in the foreground and a moonlight view of some of the Chicago exposition buildings.

In later years the artist has achieved considerable renown for her drawing of dainty Parisian ballet girls and she has acquired a technique that gives an exquisite daintiness to the face and figure, and a fluffy airiness to the gauzy garb. Hotel Bredin in New York possesses one of the best examples of her work in this field. Oil painting has been but an occasional vehicle for the genius of Mrs. Stetson, but her productions indicate that she can acquire herself with no mean credit with the less familiar materials.

It is a source of great regret to the friends of Mrs. Stetson and those who admire her work, that poor eyesight has compelled her to relinquish, at least temporarily, the pursuit of her choosing.

SEWER GREASE TRAP NOT REQUIRED HERE

Janesville Practice Differs From That Of Madison, Now A Subject of Heated Controversy.

Sewer grease traps are not required in Janesville except in special cases according to city officers, the practice differing from that of Madison, now the subject of heated controversy. Prof. C. M. Jansky of that city, a candidate for alderman in the tenth ward, says that according to a chemist a grease trap is a useless expense. Mayor Heim insists that they are absolutely necessary, and that their removal would result in clogging up the sewer. His opinion is shared by City Engineer Barber. The proposed plumbing ordinance in Madison, prepared by plumbers and former plumbers provides for grease traps, and it is charged that the plumbers, rather than the citizens' interest, is being given first consideration.

According to the report of the Committee on Sewerage and Drainage made to the Engineering Society of Wisconsin in 1910, of which City Engineer C. V. Kerch was chairman, ten Wisconsin cities do not require grease traps to be used, while twelve do; seven of which require them only on connection for hotels, restaurants, boarding houses, etc., one from sinks and laundries, and three on all connections. Janesville requires them only for hotels and restaurants. It is believed that they are necessary for other sewer connections if they are of sufficient size, and the want of them has never been felt here. The most advanced and approved engineering practice is to provide for no obstruction of any kind between the soil pipe and the sewer main, so that perfect ventilation will be obtained of all parts of the system.

Coming Spring.

The roadbed of the Rockford and Interurban line between Rockford and Janesville will be reballed during the coming spring, according to an announcement made by Manager W. C. Sparks at Rockford yesterday. This improvement will be made in addition to several extensions and improvements to the line in the city of Rockford.

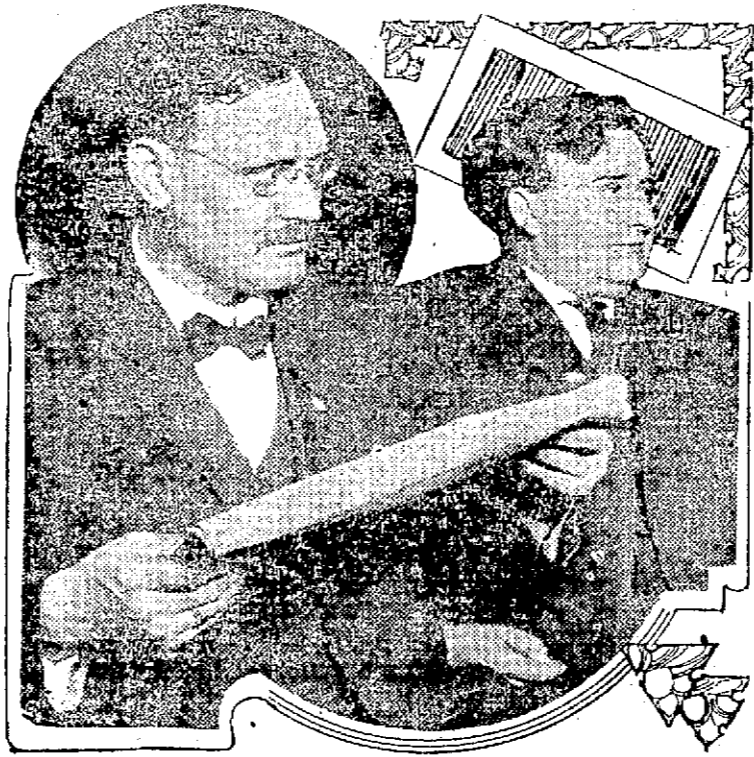

The reballing will begin as soon as weather conditions will permit and material will be obtained from the company's pit at Rockford. A new electric shovel will be placed in operation.

LEAVENWORTH PRISON FINE PLACE BUT JUDGE ANDERSON UNFAIR, SAY LABOR MEN

Olaf A. Tveitmo (left) and Eugene A. Clancy.

Olaf A. Tveitmo and Eugene A. Clancy, the San Francisco labor leaders who were convicted in the dynamite conspiracy case at Indianapolis recently and sentenced to terms in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, are now out on bail. They declare that Leavenworth prison is a fine place, but are very bitter against Federal Judge Anderson, who presided at the trial, and District Attorney Charles Miller, who handled the case for the government.

ALL HOLLAND PREPARES TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF LASS WHO'LL BE NEXT QUEEN

Princess Juliana.

All Holland is preparing to celebrate the birthday of little Princess Juliana, only child of Queen Wilhelmina, who will be four years old on April 30. It will be almost a national holiday.

Already the little princess is developing a proud imperiousness, a consciousness of the power of her position, a feeling that she is different from other babies. This is causing worry to her mother.

ized films, but the exquisite shading of nature's hues. This triumph is demonstrated by Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which comes to the Myers Wednesday and Thursday on March 26 and 27, matinee Thursday. By means of it spectators may confidently look forward to new and entrancing scenes. They may safely expect a feast of incomparable loveliness of nature, disclosed with a fascinating realism. The aesthetic effect of these productions in nature's own gloriolous tints is superb. The uplifting impress of beauty conveyed in these views will be hailed with delight especially by those who have been denied intimate glimpses at first hand of nature in her varying moods. The achievement marks a new epoch in the history of Mr. Howe's remarkable exhibition. It enables him to reveal the beauty and glory of nature, the things that walk, swim or fly—every animate or inanimate object—with such perfection and fidelity, that his Travel Festival ministers to the pleasure and wonderment of spectators far more forcibly than ever before. It brings distant portions of the earth and all the benefits of travel to our elbow and shows us the infinite expressions of nature at an infinitesimal expense.

Mix the Breakfast Biscuits the Night Before—

Set Them
Away in a Cool Place and Bake them Fresh in the Morning

If the family do not all eat breakfast together, you can bake a few at a time. If you are having hot biscuits for supper, mix and cut out enough more for breakfast. They will be much nicer freshly baked than warmed over.

Of course you can't do this very successfully with sour milk and soda or with any of the old fashioned, single acting baking powders, but this convenient way of making hot biscuits and muffins for breakfast is entirely satisfactory if you use which is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which begins to give off leavening gas as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. The dough will remain in a partly leavened condition for hours and when put in the oven will come up just as light and fluffy as if freshly mixed.

Get a can of K C today and try this easy way of baking biscuits at once. You'll never go back to the old way. 21

A Stirring Story of Military Adventure and of a Strange Wartime Wooing

Copyright, 1912, by G. P. Putnam's Sons.

Heartsense received this captain's commission at the dinner table that same evening. After all, as the old general said, he was a regular and had fought before he ran, and that was a contrast to many of the pesterous ready-made shoulder straps who had betrayed the brave volunteers and lost the fight for them, and who were now standing about unabashed, bragging in the barrooms.

Northern West, shortly after his arrival at St. Louis, was assigned to the army of southwestern Missouri, where in a short time he saw hard service in almost every line except that of actual fighting. A large addition had been made to the regular army and to fill vacancies in the new regiments rapid promotions among the officers already in service had occurred. In a few months' time West rose from second lieutenant to the rank of captain of infantry—an advancement which a year before could only have been gained as a reward of perhaps fifteen years of continuous service.

As weeks and months passed on it was possible to find a certain encouragement in the fact that the defeat of McDowell's army, while not utilized by the Confederates to its full military effect, nevertheless flattered them into a feeling of strength and security, resulting in comparative inactivity in the field for the better part of a year. At the north the effect produced was exactly the contrary. While the south was planning the organization of a new republic and even putting up the name of General Beauregard as a candidate for the presidential succession in such a way as to incur for that officer the cordial distrust of Jefferson Davis forever afterward, the Federal government and the people of the northern and western states set to work with furious energy to counteract the reverses suffered in the beginning. Congress authorized the enlistment of half a million of men for three years, an increase of the navy and stupendous loans with which to strengthen the sinews of war. Lieutenant General Scott, now past seventy years of age, hung up his laureled sword and yielded the command of the Federal armies to a younger and more active officer, General George B.

McClellan. With two Federal armies ready to move into Virginia—that of McClellan by Review of Reviews company.

Lieutenant General Scott. at Washington and that under General Banks opposite Leesburg—to say nothing of considerable bodies of troops harassing the northern counties about the headwaters of the Potomac, the Confederate prospects for the spring of 1862 were decidedly threatening. To protect this portion of the state and to guard the lower Shenandoah valley against General Banks, the Confederate government determined to send a force to Winchester. This force, organized under the official title of the "Army of the Shenandoah," was placed under the command of "Stonewall" Jackson, now advanced to the rank of major general.

This was great news to the Ellinghams, not only for the native reason that it seemed to them like throwing an impregnable guard around Belle Bosquet and the whole valley, but also and especially because of Captain Robert Ellingham's part in the growing prestige of the "Stonewall" brigade.

The valley of Virginia comprised within that section of the Appalachian plateau bounded on the east by the Blue Ridge and on the west by a range of the Alleghenies called there the North mountains, stretches from the headwaters of the Shenandoah near Staunton on the south to the Potomac on the north, a distance of considerably more than a hundred miles. At the upper end this valley is more than forty miles wide, while at Staunton, fifty miles south of the Potomac, the extreme width is scarcely twenty-five.

A broad macadamized road, the famous Valley pike, traverses the entire region from north to south, with lateral roads extending to the mountain boundaries on either side, those toward the Blue Ridge connecting through various gaps with the railroads of eastern Virginia.

This beautiful and fertile region called for protection for its own sake as well as for that of its patriotic population (of which the Ellinghams were a fair sample), its numerous black slaves and the rich supplies which its lush meadow lands and broad plantations furnished.

It was especially important from a southern military viewpoint that the valley should be held intact by a Confederate army. No portion of the region could be given up without serious detriment to operations north of Richmond.

"If this valley is lost Virginia is lost," was Jackson's watchword. Early in January, 1862, Captain Ellingham wrote to his sister in Richmond: "We have only conjecture as to our destination. General Jackson keeps his secrets so well as to deceive not only the enemy, but ourselves."

Without losing any time Jackson now set out with feverish energy that ever surprised the Federal garrison under General Kelly at Romney. The weather was fearful, even for ordinary travel, to say nothing of forced military movements. Men and horses fell on the icy roads, their guns going off all along the line, the knees and muzzles of the animals lacerated, the men limping along, leaving trails of blood on the frozen snow. The march was comparable to Napoleon's passage of the Alps and not alone in its hardships, but likewise in its results, for before the 1st of February General Kelly had evacuated Romney, and for the moment there was no Federal force left in the entire lower valley. With the opening of spring four Federal armies under Fremont, Banks, McDowell and McClellan respectively were ready to close in upon Richmond. Fremont and Banks in the north and west expected to unite their forces and drive Jackson up the valley, cutting the Confederate communications and then sweeping down upon Richmond from the mountains, while McClellan marched up the peninsula between the James and York rivers, and McDowell advanced from Fredericksburg.

Early in March "Stonewall" Jackson was back in Winchester with Banks and an augmented Federal force at his heels on the north, and Shields with another army reported at Strasburg to the southward.

Here Rob Ellingham first made the acquaintance of Colonel Ashby, commanding Jackson's cavalry—a wondrous cavalier from Fauquier county, mounted on a milk white blooded horse, the most dashing rider in the whole state of Virginia, and as a leader of partisans destined soon to rank among the foremost of his contemporaries. Ashby looked like a Moor and had the chivalrous soul of a Saladin.

They struck Shields near Woodstock, some forty miles up the pike, and on March 23 attacked him, at Kernstown, and were repulsed. This was one of the few setbacks Jackson encountered in his campaign, and the furious impulse of his rebound that followed immediately after made it a costly victory for his opponent. A frenzy seized "Old Stonewall" and his men and made them invincible, irresistible. The limitless resources of the now thoroughly aroused Washington government were brought to bear in earnest upon this bold secessionist.

The whole valley was alive with marching and countermarching, advancing and retreating armies. Jackson's desperate game was to present a menacing front in several directions at once, while awaiting re-enforcements sorely needed. General Banks came over from Manassas, bent upon his destruction. At the same time Hunker, on his way with 10,000 men to join Fremont, was instructed to report to him as he followed Jackson up the valley. Jackson stood at bay at Swift Run gap in the Blue Ridge mountains, with the Shenandoah river in his front and his flanks protected by the foothills. Ewell, with a handy Confederate force, was not far away, but on the other side of the mountains in Jackson's rear, at Gordonsville.

In this tight place Jackson called upon General Lee at Richmond to reinforce him with 5,000 men. Lee could not spare any from the defense of Richmond, but suggested that a union might be effected with General Edward Johnson and his 3,500 troops at Staunton. Ewell was expected to move eastward against McDowell's Federal army at Fredericksburg. Meanwhile Banks, with his large force, was watching General Edward Johnson at Harrisonburg. The Federal Generals Milroy and Schenck had moved west of the mountains, in front of Johnson, awaiting the arrival of Fremont from the north.

"Stonewall" Jackson started out to do the theoretically impossible. Evading Banks and Harrisonburg, he moved with incredible swiftness to Staunton, joined his force with Johnson's and defeated Milroy and Schenck at one fell blow. This great advantage had to be followed up, so Ewell marched over into the valley from Gordonsville, compelling Banks to fall back to Strasburg. Having disposed of the two Federal commanders, Jackson, with Ewell, now hopped it to Front Royal, where the north and south forks of the Shenandoah river unite, at the northern end of the Massanutten ridge.

The Daily Noveltette. THE CRACKED CRIB. Hallowell Frothingham was a burglar, a big, bold, bad, burly burglar. That man would burgle anything.

The desperate chap was bolting his pate de fois gras in his lowly hotel, when Ursula, a ferocious-looking person said by the neighbors to be the burglar's wife, asked him what the hurry was. "What's the hurry?" was the way she put it.

"I'm going to crack a crib tonight," replied Hallowell Frothingham, hoarsely, not because he had a cold; but because he was a burglar. Night, the impartial darkener, threw its dusk over everything, from the crackman's lowly hotel to the palatial mansion of Swipsey McNutt, whither Hallowell Frothingham wended his way.

Rocking in an overhead window was Mike, McNutt's only child. He has rocked too hard and the cradle comes hurtling down on the crackman's head, breaking into splinters; but saving the baby's life.

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" roared the burglar, who was editor-in-chief, by the way, of the comic section of Crackman's Creaks. "Ho! Ho! Ho! I said I'd crack a crib tonight! And his ribald shouts re-echoed for squares.

HEALTHY WOMEN SCARCE

Is the Verdict of Scientific Investigation.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well, strong and healthy as a woman should be? They may not be sick enough to lie in bed—but they are run-down, thin, nervous, tired and devitalized. Women are so active nowadays, and so much is expected of them, that they constantly overdo and suffer from headache, backache, nervousness and kindred ills.

Such women need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Mrs. W. G. Ritchie, Patchogue, N. Y., says: "Vinol is certainly the best tonic I have ever taken. I was run down and tired all the time, but, thanks to Vinol, I am feeling all right again."

A Good Friday Sermon

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D.,
Dean of the Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—"Jesus, when He had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost." Matthew xxvii, 50.

In one of the older commentaries on the Bible, we once met the question, "Why did Jesus Christ die?" Which was answered by a series of reasons, some of which are remembered and some forgotten, the whole however, making an impression which was never lost. This impression was that no other explanation of his death is satisfactory, or even possible, than that he suffered as a substitute for guilty men.

We have been trying to recall some of these reasons while meditating on the transcendent event commemorated on Good Friday.

(1) His death occupies the foremost place in the New Testament. There are, for example, twenty-eight chapters in the Gospel of Matthew, and eight of them, at least, or more than one-quarter of the whole, is taken up with the story of his crucifixion and the events immediately leading up to and following it. About the same proportion is seen in John's Gospel, to say nothing of the emphasis laid upon his death in the epistles of Paul and the book of Revelations.

(2) His death awakened the greatest interest in Heaven as well as on earth, since in Peter's first epistle, Chapter 1, 12, he tells us that "these things the angels desire to look into." Moreover, when Moses and Elijah, brought back to earth, were conversing with Jesus on the Mount of Transfiguration, it was about, "His decease which he should accomplish at Jerusalem." (Luke ix, 31.)

(3) It was the central object ever present in Christ's own thought and teaching. Men come into the world to live, but he tells us that he came into the world to die. "The son of man," said he, came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." (Matt. xx, 28.) In another place, with application to himself, he says, "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone, but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit." (John xii, 24.)

(4) His death was voluntary. In John vii, 30, we read that at a certain crisis, "no man laid hands on him," because his hour was not yet come." And again he himself said, "I lay down my life that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again." (John x, 17, 18.) Furthermore, it is specifically said that in his death he "yielded up the ghost." In other words, the passing out of his spirit from his body was the act of his own will.

(5) At the same time he died with peculiar agony, not merely that of a physical but a spiritual kind, crying out, "My God! My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Whoever heard of God forsaking a martyr to his truth? And if Jesus were forsaken in any sense, must it not have been as a substitute for us?

(6) There were wonderful phenomena accompanying his death as of no other man—"the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom; and the earth did quake, and the rocks rent, and the graves were opened, and many bodies of the saints which slept arose, and came out of the graves after his resurrection, and went into the holy city and appeared unto many." (Matt. xxvii, 51, 53.)

(7) It was a predicted death. A way back in the Garden of Eden it was pointed to in the words addressed to the serpent, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head and thou shalt bruise his heel." (Gen. iii, 15.) Isaiah, the prophet, spoke of Christ seven or eight centuries before his birth, saying, "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed." (Isa. li, 5.) And Daniel said he should be cut off, but not for himself. (Dan. ix, 26.)

(8) It was a predestined death, since Peter says, "Yet are not redeemed with corruptible things as silver and gold . . . but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot; who verily was foreordained before the foundation of the world."

(9) Finally, it was a death which has been commemorated by an observance that never can be hid or explained away, namely, the communion of the Lord's supper, in which Christians eat the bread and drink the wine in remembrance of his dying love.

This is the reason an inspired apostle is able to say, "Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord, shall be saved." (Rom. x, 13.)

Suicide by Dynamite.

A workman, determined to commit suicide, placed a stick of dynamite inside his clothes and exploded it. He succeeded only in being horribly burned. A second attempt was equally abortive. Then he dragged himself home and got more dynamite, and went into a nearby field and placed a stick in his mouth and blew his head to pieces.

The Secret of Success

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence.

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been cured, to those who are in need of it.

In an interview on the subject a prominent local druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows immediate results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

The success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

A free trial bottle will be sent by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper. Regular size bottles sold at all druggists—50c, and $1.00.

WAREHOUSE SEASON DRAWING TO CLOSE

Last Year's Crop Now in Hands of Dealers and Packing is Progressing Rapidly.

All indications point toward seeing the tobacco handling season closed at an earlier date this year than for some time past, says the Edgerton Reporter. By April first not only will be seen all the early purchases received, but the crop sold out closer in the country than ever before at this date. Only widely scattering lots now remain in growers' hands and the hunt for them must shortly come to an end. There are plenty of buyers standing ready to take over even the last leaf.

The warehouse season, too, is fast drawing to a close. The United Cigar Manufacturers Company have closed all their plants this week with the exception of the one in Edgerton. All the large operators are liable to be disappointed at the close of the season to find the total of their packing short of anticipated figures owing to the lighter yield per acre, with little opportunity of increasing their holdings.

If there was much old leaf for sale in local hands the movement would be satisfactory enough, for there is an excellent demand for everything of a binder nature, but unfortunately there is very little to be had.

Through the unloading of the second floor, one bent of E. C. Hopkins' warehouse, No. 6, gave way and dropped several tons of bundle tobacco onto the floor below, a few days ago. A defective pier permitted the center post to sag and 12x12 timbers were broken like pipe stems. The building was used by the F. G. Borden Company for storage of low grade leaf, and much of it had to be removed before repairs could be made.

CITY SEALER HAS POWER TO TEST SERVICE METERS

State Law Gives Him Power To Do So But He Has Not Been Furnished Necessary Equipment.

Power to test gas, water and electric meters is given to City Sealer Helms by the state law, but as yet he has not exercised that power, not having been supplied with the elaborate and expensive equipment required, or being instructed to do such work by the council. The city of Beloit recently added to the duties of its sealer that of inspecting service meters, and Racine and Kenosha are considering a similar step. Janesville will probably follow suit if a strong popular demand for the added service is made manifest.

Makes Rheumatism Promptly Disappear

Chronic, Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of New Remedy Are Taken.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can easily avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone does this, because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poison from the blood, and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

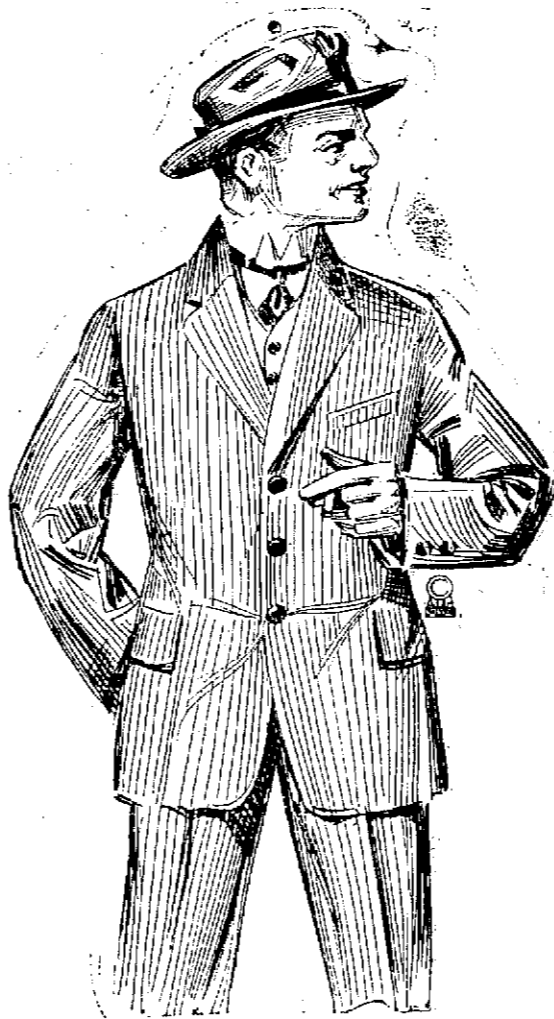

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders.
